Note:

The council confirms that it holds the information you have requested and provides the information to which you refer in paragraph number 3 of your request. The council refuses to disclose the information you have requested at paragraph 3 of your request and relies upon the exemption contained in Section 43 (2) Freedom of Information Act 2000, in that it is exempt information the disclosure of which would be likely to prejudice the council's commercial interests.

The council has to source information technology systems and services in a cost effective manner. A disclosure of this detail is likely to compromise the council's negotiating advantage as to pricing terms, leaving it open to facing the prospect of higher prices, which would be adverse to the council's and tax payers' interests. Additionally, tendering firms will know their competitor's position putting it at an unfair position in the market place. The public interest in upholding the council's reasonable expectation of protecting the confidentiality of its commercial information in this context outweighs the public interest in its disclosure.
